

MEMBERS' INTERESTS INDEX
Authorisation to Use E-mail Address

Members' Interests submitted for publication in the Manchester Genealogist will also be published anonymously on the Society's web site, that is to say, the only identification of the submitting member will be their MLFHS membership number.

Members who have an electronic mail address may, by completing and submitting this form, have a link added against each of their interests which will allow an enquirer to send an e-mail message to them.

The e-mail addresses are held in a secure database which cannot be accessed other than for this purpose. The enquirer will not see the submitting member's e-mail address during the enquiry process. You will not, therefore, run any risk of receiving unwanted mail.

E-mail addresses will also be held on the Society's membership database at Clayton House and may be used by the Society to communicate with the member. They will not be released to third parties without the member's express permission.

This authorisation can be rescinded at any time by contacting the Society and quoting your name and membership number.
